VOLUME XXI—NO 129 CHARLEROI, WASHINGTON COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA. THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1920 TWO CENTS

MINERS MEET IN SPITE OF PROTEST OF DISTRICT OFFICIALS

Will Take Up Certain Phase Of Working Conditions and Ask Improvement

MANY DELEGATES ARE PRESENT

No definite action was taken at the opening meeting of the special convention of members of District No. 5, United Mine Workers of America, which were held on Weduesday at the Fort Pitt hotel, Pittsburgh. About one hundred delegates, said to represent a majority of the local unions in the district, were present when the meeting was called to order by Chairman Halapy, member of the committee of action, which issued the call for the convention.

The chairman outlined the reasons for calling the convention, asserting that the district officials had refused to issue such a call, although a sufficient number of local unions had demanded it according to the laws of the union. The purposes of the meeting, he said, were to take action against the district officers who refused to call the meeting and to demand better working conditions and the righting of grievances.

The principal grievances, as outlined by Chairman Halapy, were failure of operators to pay for the removal of slate and the necessity of pushing cars in the mine. No compensation it was said w as paid for performing t hese and other tasks.

At the afternoon meeting David Irvine, former international organizer, and a member of District No. 2, addressed the delegates and told of progress that had been made in other sections. He voiced surprise that the officials in this district had refused to heed the request of the unions that a special convention be held. He called upon the rank and file of the organization to show their strength and demand their rights in the matter.

The reports of various committees were read at the sessions, including the one from the committee appointed to meet with them. They reported failure to obtain an affirmative reply to this request.

No regularly elected district officers were present at the meeting, they having failed to recognize the convention as regular. It was declared by them several d ays ago that no such convention could be officially held upon call of any committee designated as "the committee of action" and no attention will be paid by the district officials to any action taken at the convention, they stated.

The convention will last over tomorrow and it is expected the resolutions to be adopted will set forth protests against working conditions and demands for betterment of those conditions.

EPWORTH LEAGUE TO HOLD RALLY

A rally of the Monongahela Sub-District Epworth League will be held in the Methodist Episcopal church at Elrama. Friday evening, November 12, beginning at 6:45 o'clock. The program will open with a song s ervice, led by Wm. Laight and followed by a praise service in charge of D. Moore Boyce. Then in order will follow the roll call and awarding of the banner; extending invitation for the next rally; music by a quartet; a discussion of the topic, "What we expect of your subdistrict; music by the quartet; and an address on "Stewardship" by Dr. B. R McKnight. After benediction a social hour will follow.

John J. Guggie, Sr.

John J. Guggie, Sr., died at his residence, 522 Washington avenue, Charleroi at 10:30 o'clock, p. m., Wednesday night, aged 74 years. The deceased was born in Isone, Switzerland and had been in this country for 33 years, first coming to Pittsburg. After spending four years in and around that city he came to Charleroi, where he had been living since. He was a well known stone mason and contractor, and his last work in that line was done on the new high school building. He was also in the grocery business for twelve years before retiring from the activities of life He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Margaret Guggie and one son, John J. Guggie, Jr. He was a member of St. Jerome's Catholic church. Funeral services will be held Saturday morning at 9 o'clock from his late home with Solemn Requiem Mass at St. Jerome's Catholic church at 9:30 o'clock, interment to follow in Calvary cemetery.

FAU DRY GOODS CO ENTERTAINS EMPLOYES

The Fau Dry Goods company entertained its employes, about twenty in number, with a turkey dinner at the Elks' Club, Wednesday evening. Following the dinner all of the guests made up a theatre party and attended the Palace which proved to be a very entertaining feature.

COLLECT LARGE SUMS IN FINES

Justice worked rapidly in the Washington county criminal court when within a very short space of time the pleas of 28 defendants were taken. They were called to the bar, and sentence was i mposed. Of the pleaders disposed of, 14 were for the violation of the liquor laws. In the majority of cases the minimum fine of $500 was imposed, together with the costs and three months' imprisonment. However, in two g ross violations, the fine was made $2,000 and the imprisonment one year.

There are many cases on the November criminal term docket, due to the activities of the district attorney's office, through its detective force. Washington county is infested with these illegal liquor sellers and despite the efforts of the county authorities, these violators persist in continuing their business.

Fines totaling $11,750 were imposed in the cases disposed of Monday. This included $500 fine each in three gambling house cases and two nominal fines in mine law violation cases, and a fine of $100 in a case involving a crime against morality. Th e others were liquor cases. In the liquor cases where the offense was not an aggravated one those c onvicted were paroled on payment of fine and costs. Parole Officer Mitchell collected on Monday a total of $4,775.63.

LOCAL HIGH HOPES FOR SATURDAY VICTORY

This coming Saturday the Charleroi High School football team will play a team representing the Westinghouse Tech Students Association and a good game is anticipated. The defeat handed the locals last week by Uniontown was not without its good effect and the C. H. S. boys are expected to attempt to lighten last week's stain by covering it with an overwhelming victory this Saturday. The game will start promptly at 3 o'clock.

COUNCIL MEETING FRIDAY EVENING

The regular monthlhy meeting of borough council, which was to have been held Tuesday evening, but which was postponed on account of the election, will be held at the borough building on Friday evening at the usual hour.

Mrs. A. G. Lewis and Miss Sarah Braden are in Pittsburg this afternoon and this evening will attend the Frieda Hempel concert at Carnegie Hall.

TEMPLE LEADS THE TICKET IN COUNTY

Washington county rolled up an old fashioned Republican vote at the election on Tuesday, with a largely increased plurality for the entire ticket, national, state and county, the women voters contributing much to the success of the Republican candidates.

With 155 out of 157 precincts in the county heard from, Bentleyville and Canonsburg, Second ward, first precinct, being the only ones missing the pluralities of the Republican candidates run anywhere from 5,119 for Sprowls over Knox to 10,039 for Temple over Amspoker. Harding for President has a plurality over Cox of 9,121, while that of Senator Penrose is 8,398. With the remaining two precincts it is likely that these pluralities will be increased. It is believed that the total vote in the county will be about 28,000, with about 18,000 votes for Harding and 3,000 for Cox.

The outstanding feature of the local contest is the exceptionally large vote polled by Congressman Temple. He will defeat Samuel Amspoker, his opponent by over 25,000 votes in the district. Of this plurality Washington county gives 10,039, Lawrence county 8,700 and Beaver county 6,426. There are still twelve precincts in the district to be heard from, and these will likely increase Temple's plurality.

MOTHER KILLED BY PASSENGER TRAIN

Mrs. Josephine Angelina, aged 45 years, of House No. 2, Manown, near Monongahela, was killed; her infant son, Raphael Angelina, aged 18 montths, was fatally injured and another son. August Angelina, aged 3, was seriously injured when they were struck by a passenger train on the Pittsburg & Lake Erie Railroad at Manown last night.

Mrs. Angelina, who was carrying both children in her arms, started across the tracks andfailed to observe the approach of the train. The children were taken to the Memorial hospital at Monongahela, where one died within a few hours after the accident. Hospital authorities say the other child may also die.

Elizabeth A. Brantano.

Elizabeth A. Brantano, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Brantano, died at the family home, Fallowfield township, Thursday morning, November 4, at 5 o'clock aged four years and six months. Funeral Saturday at 2 p m., from the home, interment in Maple creek cemetery.

INDICATIONS POINT TO MUCH CHEAPER COAL IN THIS DISTRICT

Priorities Revoked And Greater Supply Available For Local Use

PRICES WERE HIGH ON "SPOT"

Coal will be cheaper in the Pittsburg district within the next two weeks, unless all present indications of supply and demand, season, railroad and labor conditions utterly fail. Production is expected to be light this week, owing to election day and the opening of the rabbit season, when many miners take an additional day off to go hunting. Once the week is broken a miner seldom returns before the beginning of the following week.

One of the greatest factors in the relief of the coal shortage is the removal of the priority order affecting the northwest. For some time past several thousand tons of local production have been going into that district daily at the expense of the local consumer. Now that the northwest is well stocked there is consequently an abundance of coal for the Pittsburg section. The effect of this reduction of demand upon local mines will be most certainly felt in more abundant supply and in the softening of prices.

One prominent coal operator has declared that the decline in prices, which is already under way, will bring the price down to "just about where it ought to be." He is authority for the statement that the unusually high price of coal existed only in the speculative "spot" market, and did not affect contracts. The wholesaler has always been protected he declares, and never has paid the high prices quoted for spot coal. This being the case, a more abundant supply of coal will be felt in the open market first, and will probably not bring a reduction in the price of coal to small consumers.

The reason for the advance upon the open market was caused by a scarcity of supply which invited speculation in the commodity Brokers who find themselves with a large quantity of coal on hand are in for a bad winter, for large producers who have long been far behind on their contracts are nearly all caught up, and within a very short time will seek an outlet on the open market.

An indication of the decided drop which has already taken place, a prominent jobber stated that steam coal was s elling on Tuesday at $4.00 per ton and gas coal at $7.00, while these two grades could not be purchased six weeks ago for less than $9.00 and $10.00 per ton, respectively.

BENTLEYVILLE TYPHOID EPIDEMIC IS OVER

Conditions in the typhoid fever epidemic at Bentelyville have improved to such an extent that the two Red Cross nurses sent there to help care for the large number of persons suffering from the disease have been relieved from duty. Under t he supervision of the sanitary engineer of the State Health Department sent there conditions have been improved and every step taken to prevent another such outbreak.

TRIMMERS TAKE TWO OUT OF THREE

The "Trimmers" took two out of three from the "Lunks" at the Elks bowling alleys last night. The Lunks got away to a good start, and won the first game by 34 pins, but in the succeeding games lost their bearings, losing the second by 40 pins and the third by 49 pins. Capt. Carson, Stroud and Guy Woodward rolled nice games for the "Trimmers" while the best bowling for the "Lunks" was done by Capt. Osborne and W. Pieper. Guy Woodward had high score, making 160 in the second game. Tonight Capt. Robert Hess and his "Hoop Poles" will try conclusions with Capt. Henry Lowstutter's "Cubs." Game at 8:00 sharp. Score:

ELKS ANNOUNCE A FINE DANCE PROGRAM

The entertainment committee of Charleroi Lodge, No. 494. B. P. O. E., has announced a series of Friday evening dances, beginning on the evening of November 5, with "The Dreamers" orchestra of Pittsburg. Friday evening, November 12, Nossokoff of Pittsburg, will furnish the music, and on the evening of the 19th "The Orchestra," featuring "Red" Carny. A formal dance will be given Friday evening, December 3, with the Fisher orchestra of Kalamazoo furnishing the music.

LITTLE ENTHUSIASM

One feature of the campaign just closed was the apparent lack of enthusiasm in both major parties. Whether this was due to a feeling that the contest was going to be one-sided and that the Republicans were going to win easily can not be stated, but to the casual observer there was very little of that "pep" in the battle which has characterized campaigns in years gone by. However, if there was a lack of enthusiasm, the people did a lot of reading and thinking. Presidential campaigns are not determined these days by the boiling over enthusiasm of partisans, but rather by the sober and conservative judgment of the people at large.

American people are great readers, and practicallly every family takes a newspaper. Some more than one, the local journal and some city paper, and between the two they manage to keep well informed as to what is going on in the world. Readers of newspapers are also close observers of current events. They read, they think, they digest, and then they come to a conclusion. This may account for the lack of enthusiasm on Tuesday night, when it became evident that Senator Harding had been elected to the highest tion. The people realize his respontion. he people realize his responsibilities, and are willing to co-operate to the full extent of the power. What they want is a normal condition which will insure to capital and to labor, to employer and employe, those just returns to which they are entitled. A normalcy that will steady the "ship of state" and give us a domestic tranquility which will assure to all of our people t hose conditions of stability so essential to progress and happiness. We want to do away with the hectic conditions which have prevailed for so long, which, while they have been lavish on one hand have been more than extravagant on the other.

We believe that Senator Harding when he assumes the chair of the chief executive, and those whom he shall summon as his personal advisers, will devote their energies and their talents to this great task and which they hope to accomplish.

"DROP LETTER RATE.

Postmaster-General Burleson announces that in his annual report he will recommend a one-cent postage rate for "drop letters," or first class matter to be delivered within the postal district in which it is mailed. This ruling already applies in small postal districts where there is no free delivery at the door by letter carriers and the new proposition is therefore to extend the one-cent rate of "drop letters" to the large towns and cities where there is house delivery by carriers. The proposition is a reasonable one, inasmuch as "drop letters" cost the Department even less where there is household delivery than is the cost of letters transported by mail to distant points.

Formerly the Postoffice could not have afforded the proposed loss of revenue, but no doubt can do so now that its business has been placed on a paying basis business by the introduction of the zone system of charges. Naturally there has been an outcry by the magazine and book publishing interests, but what is more important is that the adoption of the zone system has enabled the Postoffice Department to secure for the first time enough revenue to cover all expenses. Objection to the proposed change has been made on the ground that 2 cents on a "drop letter" is cheap enough and that the money the Department can afford to lose in this way could be more wisely applied to the betterment of the local service generally. As to this point the Department itself ought to be the better judge, and it can be taken for granted that the public of towns and cities will welcome a one-cent rate on "drop letters."

A FRENCH VIEW OF THE FAST.

It is interesting to know that the more learned observers accept the fast of the Irish hunger strikers as genuine. The survival of the Lord Mayor of Cork 74 days and some of the others even longer have caused widespread suspicion that the fasting was not complete, but there is not the same skepticism among medical scientists. An important point is made by an article in the New York Medical Record translated from a French journal of the same class. It is that the phenomenal fasting of the Irish hunger strikers has been done in very different and far more favorable conditons than those which usually attend starvation.

This view of French medical science, as summarized by the New York Times, is as follows: "It is one thing to be entombed in a mine, lost in a desert or adrift in an open boat, and quite another to be in a modern hospital, attended day and night by physicians and nurses. In the former cases the physical resources are exhausted rapidly, not only by sufferings additional to those of hunger, usually with t hirst as the worst of them, but also by the tortures of apprehension and hope deferred or deceived. The voluntary faster or a cause, on the contrary has no terrors or anxieties, and, when his jailers are British and the time now, everything possible except forcible feeding is done to mitigate his pain and prolong his life."

CAROTHERS PLEASED BY ELECTION RESULTS

Chairman C. E. Carothers of the Republican county committee, before his departure from his home in Washington for Harrisburg on Wednesday evening, spoke enthusiastically of the great Republican victory on Tuesday. He stated the result was not unexpected, as the trend of events in the last few months had plainly indicated a desire on the part of the people everywhere to throw off the yoke of Wilsonism. He said:

"The Republicans of Washington county have clearly shown their loyalty to the nominees and are sending back to offices men who have been tried and found faithful in the performance of their duties. The returns from the county indicate that Harding leads by more than 8,000 votes, while the other candidates are coming along with pluralities in excess of 5,000. While the campaign was very quiet in this section the voters generally were determined to take part in the election and the vote shows that they went to the polls with their minds made up as to whom they would support.

"The large number of straight party tickets cast in every district showed that the majority of the electors were standing by the candidates nominated last May. The party workers were on the alert and rendered excellent service."

REQUEST FOR RULE DISCHARGED BY COURT

In the suit of John Bizet against William C. Smith, in the matter of a rule for judgment for want of a sufficient affidavit of defense, the Washington county court on Wednesday handed down an opinion discharging the rule. The action involves a suit on a contract for labor and material furnished on a house on Lincoln avenue, Charleroi.

Governor Cox's campaign ended at Trail's End. How suggestive and appropriate.

Lower Price Sale To Continue

Our lower price sale, which started last week with big reductions in practically every line, has been such a success that we have decided to continue it. Our customers are taking quick advantage of our reduction in prices and with the coming of cold weather realize their savings in buying their winter needs now. Blankets for instance are good staple items of merchandise that do not need price cutting to move then when cold weather is on but this season has been so mild we started a sale to move them early and we surely "started something." People are buying rapidly and getting real values. The sale is not confined to Blankets however as item after item has been added to our list for reductions until now the whole store is one big "hall of bargains." The success of our sale, however, is not in the reductions alone but chiefly in the satisfaction found in our customers on noting the quality of merchandise at the prices quoted.

Blankets, wool and cotton, Spreads, Towels, Sweaters, Comforts, Stockings, Winter Underwear, Ribbon, Piece Goods, Drapery, House dresses, Aprons, Coats, Suits, Skirts, Children's Hats, in fact, all our goods are at a lower price level and as our stock is large, we are in a position to continue offering our merchandise at lower prices but of higher quality.

RETURNS REVERSE CONDITIONS OF 1916

The result of the Tuesday elections is a complete reversal of conditions in 1916. In 1916 the Democrats carried thirty states for a total of 177 electoral votes, California swinging to the Wilson column after a week of doubt, and clinching his election. This year the Republicans carried thirty-six states for a total of 401 electoral votes, the Democrats securing t welve states, all below the Mason and Dixon line, for a total of 130 electoral votes. Harding's popular plurality will be almost six million votes, a total never before reached in the history of American politics.

HOLDING VIEW AT VESTA MINE NO. 1

A. M. Linn, Esq., of Washington, was in Charleroi this morning on his way to Vesta mine No. 1, where a conference was held this morning between officials of the Vesta Coal company and the State Highway Department.

The Vesta Coal company was represented by Mr. Angloch, president of the company, and by Mr. Linn who is the Washington county counsel for the company, while the state highway department was represented by Mr. Fitzsimmons.

At this meeting it was expected that a tentative plan would be agreed upon for the reconstruction of the tipple of the Vesta Coal company to permit of the widening of the highway at that place. This preliminary view is in keeping with the program agreed upon at a meeting held in Charleroi some weeks ago, and indicates that the State Highway Department is getting all the details in shape for actual work on the highway some time next spring.

BENTLEYVILLE APPROVES SCHOOL BOND ISSUE

A bond issue of $85,000 for the erection of a new school building in Bentleyville carried at the Tuesday election by a ratio of 4 to 1. The school board asked for approval from the citizens to use that sum in replacing the structure destroyed by fire last June The new building will be erected in a central part of the town and not on the site of the one burned. The site has not been an-

"SO LONG LETTY" IS FULL OF "PEP"

One of the best comedy-dramas of the screen is "So Long Letty," the Robertson-Cole super-special which will be shown for a period of two days at the Coyle Theatre beginning Monday, November 8. Adapted to the silver sheet from Oliver Morosco's famous and successful stage play of the same name, "So Long Letty" appears to better advantage on the screen because of the wider scope of the camera.

Al Christie, producer and director of "Letty," is pleased to believe that the screening of the comedy-drama is the best work of his career. Aside from a number of betwitching bathing girls who did not waste any material when making their bathing suits, Mr. Christie has selected four excellent artists to play the principal roles. They are T. Roy Barnes, Grace Darmond, Colleen Moore and Walter Hiers.

The story of "So Long Letty" has to do with swapping wives, disgruntled husbands, home cooked meals, Paris gowns, cabarets, gingham dresses and sardines. Likewise it teaches a lesson to perpetually dissatisfied individuals.

HIGHLY GRATIFIED OVER THE RESULT

Mrs. John N. O'Neil, chairman of the women's Republican county committee, was in Washington on Wednesday at county headquarters, where she expressed herself as being greatly pleased over the result of Tuesday's election and in which the women played such an important part. In speaking of the campaign Mrs. O'Neil said.

"Naturally, I feel elated over the result of the election in the nation and particularly in Washington county and the Twenty-fourth district. The Republican women certainly did take their places in the front ranks of voters and workers on the occasion of casting their first ballot and made November 2 almost a gala day. Reports from election officers indicate that fully 80 per cent of the women who had registered in September were at the polls and the returns show that the Republicans among them were largely in the majority and supported the ticket without a break

"I rejoice that the Republican women of Washington county have shown on this, their first voting effort, that they can intelligently and carefully register their choice of political parties."

From a typographical standpoint, Mr. Cox now appreciates the full value of the "hellbox."

All things considered, and realizing the size of the vote, why not make it unanimous?

CHAMP CLARK WAS DEFEATED FOR CONGRESS

One of the tragedies of the election on Tuesday was the defeat of Champ Clark in his fight for reelection to Congress from his Missouri district. He had served for over twenty years as a member of the lower House, and had frequently appeared in this section of Pennsylvania on the lecture platform. Had it not been for William Jennings Bryan. Mr. Clark would have been the nominee of the Democratic party for President in 1912 and in all probability would have been elected.

ECLIPSE OF THE SUN VISIBLE NOVEMBER 10

A partial eclipse of the sun will occur on November 10, when about one-quarter of the sun's face will be hidden by the moon coming between the earth and the sun. The eclipse will occur at 8:57 in the morning and will end at 11:03. The greatest obstruction will be at 9:58 o'clock. The phenomenon will be visible in this section of the country if the skies are clear.

STEAMER VESTA WILL RE-ENTER TRADE SOON

The steamer Vesta of the Vesta Coal company, which was wrecked in the Monongahela river near Allenport last summer, and which has been rebuilt on the marine ways of the company at Floreffe, will be launched within a few days and placed back in the trade. The boat received a new hull and boilers and the machinery received a general overhauling.

Questions.

1. How is Rabies contracted?
1. How should a dog bite be treated?
3. What should be done with a dog suspected of Rabies?

RABIES OR HYDROPHOBIA

Almost every one knows the story of the heroic blacksmith, who, to save the village children fought and killed the "Mad Dog" with his bare hands. Severely bitten in the struggle, to protect others from injury in case madness should come upon him, with his own hands he riveted the iron band around his ankle and forged the chain which bound him to his anvil.

Grateful neighbors brought him food and stayed to keep him company during the uncertain hours and days which must pass until his fate would be known. When his wounds healed rapidly, they wanted to file off his shackles, but the brave smith refused. Soon he noticed a numbness of his limbs and tingling sensations. It was difficult for him to swallow, then came thirst—unendurable thirst—that could not be assuaged, for even the sight of water was sufficient to cause violent spasms of the muscles of the throat. Hence the name, "Hydrophobia"—"fear of water." General convulsions followed, which were succeeded by paralysis and unconsciousness, and so he died.

A few generations later came the announcement from the laboratory of the great French Scientist Pasteur, that Rabies or Hydrophobia was preventable. Rabies is not conveyed from one person to another but is always the result of infection from a lower animal, usually the dog, although it may be transmitted by horses, cows, cats, goats or other animals.

The virus of the disease is found in the saliva and is often present several days or a week before the animal exhibits signs of "Madness." Infection is usually caused by the bite of a rabid animal, but it may be induced by the mere licking of a hand upon which there is a break in the skin.

Persons have been known to contract the disease by scratching their hands on the teeth of horses or cattle they were drenching from some supposed other ailment.

The disease seldom makes its appearance before three weeks and sometimes as much as three months or more elapse before it is manifest.

One day last summer Jimmy Downs, 10 years old, ran crying to his mother, "A dog bit me." Dr. Carson enlarged the wound, which was in the hand, in order to make it bleed freely, washed it out well and cauterized it.

"What became of the dog?" he asked.

"The dog has been shot," said Jimmy's father.

"Too bad, it was not captured alive."

"Why captured?"

"Because in a few days we should have known definitely whether or not the dog was rabid. Now his head must be sent to the diagnostic laboratory and the "Negri bodies" (the certain signs of rabies) which are seen by the microscope among the nerve cells of the brain may not be present, as they do not develop in the very early stages. Therefore, other methods which will take longer time will have to be pursued."

"Will the delay make any difference?"

"The earlier the diagnosis is made and the treatment begun, the better for the patient."

The Doctor sent for the dead dog, which proved to be a fox terrier. "Short haired animals are more apt to contract rabies," he said: "than the long haired type because there is less chance for the saliva to be wiped from the teeth of the biting animal, for the same reason there is greater danger from bites in the hand or face than through clothing."

The entire dog, being a small one, was packed in ice and expressed to a diagnostic laboratory.

Several days later a positive report came back.

Then Dr. Carson began giving Jimmy daily injections of the Pasteur emulsion which came regularly from the laboratory. At the end of three weeks he pronounced him out of danger of rabies.

"There are two forms of Rabies—the furious or excitable type and the dumb type: in the latter the lower jaw is early paralyzed and often hangs down, giving the animal the appearance of having a bone in his throat: while the saliva is present animals are dull, listless and do not bite.

The first change noticed in a dog affected with the furious type of Rabies, is usually restlessness and a difference in disposition. An affectionate dog will exhibit surliness or an ill-natured manifest[illegible] fondness, [illegible]master by [illegible] attempts. If exois hands or face. The saliva is virulent at this [illegible]

Beware of restless and unduly affectionate dogs, especially if you know they have been bitten.

Later they appear to become delirious, biting at imaginary things and darting in fear from commonplace objects: soon they begin to bite and snap at other animals; they run aimlessly for long distances biting and snapping at every thing in their way. They drip saliva, but do not always froth at the mouth.

The Board of Poor Directors are required by law to furnish Pasteur treatment free, for persons unable to pay for it.

If for two years all dogs in the United States were required by law, to be muzzled, Hydrophobia would disappear from this country as it has from England, where such law exists.

CZECH WITH A SCOTCH NAME

Editor of New York Hlas Lidu Descended From Rob Roy's Clansmen.

If Harry Lauder were to read that a MacGregor was one of the leaders of Czecho-Slovakian thought in America he would doubtless conclude that the printer man had pied the type. Just the same it's a fact that the patronymic of B. C. Gregr, editor of the New York Bohemian daily, Hlas Lidu, is nothing less than a Czecho-Slovak remnant of MacGregor.

And the answer is that one of the editor's liveliest ancestors was an adventurous Scot of the great Rob Roy's clan who found his way to Bohemia and stayed there.

The real Bohemia of New York, quite unknown to the pallid Bohemians who criticize life from the elevation of a Greenwich village table d'hote, lies in the Seventies, between Second avenue and the East river. Since the war its inhabitants call themselves Czecho-Slovakians.

Editor Gregr, whose forefathers forgot to hand him down a Scotch accent, and who wouldn't know how to say "Hoot, mon!" either in Scotch or Czecho-Slovak, is a son of a renowned Bohemian patriot who served for 50 years as a parliamentary representative of his people in the legislature of their Austro-Hungarian oppressors. The editor himself is a profound student of international affairs and is looked upon as a sage by the 700,000 Czecho-Slovakians in America.—New York Sun.

FEWER GOLDEN WEDDINGS

Late Marriages and the Divorce Courts Reduce the Number of These Anniversaries.

More and more infrequently with the succeeding years do we read of the observance of the golden wedding anniversary. Memory recalls the time when such celebrations were of frequent occurrence: when the sons and daughters, grandchildren and often great-grandchildren gathered to honor and felicitate those who had shared the joys and sorrows of two-score-ten years and invoke heaven's blessing upon them as they continued hand in hand the journey toward life's sunset.

This infrequency may be due in a measure to the present custom of marrying at a later age than was the rule several generations ago and to the fact that we of the present seem to fall earlier under the hand of the grim reaper than did our sturdier ancestors. But to the divorce evil may be accredited the greater part of the blame. The present-day marriage is too often hastily contracted, the parties thereto fail to weigh carefully the responsibilities of married life, and the most trivial differences sometimes lead to separation. The number of couples who live to round out fifty years of matrimonial companionship becomes ever smaller and smaller.

What Delayed Auntie.

Aunt Martha, in town with her daughter, who had to be operated upon, was having her first taste of urban life. To while away her time she "hired out" as a cook. The first Saturday night she was at work her employer sent her to make some purchases. She was hours returning and as the distance was short, her employer grew rather anxious about her. She came in about 11:20.

"Where on earth have you been, Aunt Martha?" was the question that greeted her.

Still showing plainly signs of mental stress, she said: "Lawdy, ma'am, I been trying to find a place to get across dat street downtown. I stood on de corner half an hour waiting for all dem street wagons to get by, but dey kept er comin'. Den I walked up dat side of de street, but all de corners wuz just alike. I couldn't get across, so I jes' waited till all dem things went home, and den I come here as fas' as I could."

President Thanklin of Wesleyan university was condemning the profiteer.

"I know a college professor," he said, "who was disturbed at his frugal supper one night by a suspicious noise in the cellar.

"The professor put down his porridge spoon and stole down the cellar stairs. Suddenly an electric torch was flashed on him, and the shadowy figure behind the torch said:

"'It's all right, professor. It's only me.'

"'Me?' the professor muttered.

"'Sure—me—the provision man, ye know, leavin' yer week's provisions.'

"Thereupon the professor gave a great start, and held his hands up higher still."

Mormons to Dedicate Temple.

The Mormons of Canada and many from the United States will gather at Cardston, Alberta, next May to attend the dedication of the great temple that has been in process of erection since 1914. The building will cost $1,500,000 when completed and will be unlike any other structure in the domain. The paintings for the rooms and the decorations for the other interiors are now being finished. It is one of the show places of southern Alberta.

Somewhat Ambiguous.

Among the local items that appeared in a country paper was this: "Paul McManus met with a painful accident last week. A fishhook became entangled in his eye. Paul is being attended by Doctor Evers, who says his eye will come out all right."

Vain Warnings.

An eminent actor-manager tells a story concerning a clergyman and his actor son. Prior to his going on the stage the father wrote to the manager, saying, "My son, John, has threatened to go on the stage, and I want you to stop him." However, shortly afterward, the son did go on the stage, and the manager, meeting him one day, asked how his father took it. "I have not seen him," was the reply, "but he takes some interest in me, because whenever any actor is charged with a crime he underlines the report of it in the newspapers and sends it to me."

Nine Points of the Law.

It has been said that success in litigation requires a good deal of patience, a good deal of money, a good cause, a good lawyer, a good counsel, good witnesses, a good jury, a good judge, and, last but not least, good luck. But the saying is really a part of the proverb which says that "possession is nine points of the law," and that anybody is welcome to the tenth if they can get anything out of it.

Ancient Dentistry.

Interesting specimen of Etruscan dentistry is now in the civic museum at Corneto of the Necropolis of Tarquinii and consists of three teeth, or, more properly, four abutment attachments and three supplies, the attachments being gold rings and the teeth supplied being the central incisors and bicuspids. The two central incisors are made from a single ox tooth grooved down to give it the appearance of two upper central incisors.

Significant Borders.

On certain fete days in some parts of Brittany the marriageable girls appear in red petticoats with white or yellow borders around them. The number of borders denote the portion the father is willing to give his daughter. Each white band denotes 100 francs per annum; each yellow band represents 1,000 francs a year.

Make Address Sure.

When wrapping magazines for the mail, the important thing is to make sure that the magazine and its wrapper will not part company. Lay a cord lengthwise inside the magazine, and after sealing and addressing the wrapper, tie the cord once the long way and once around the middle of the roll.

Thought He Had Treasure Trove.

Harry Lee, a negro laborer, helping to pull down an old residence in Baltimore, unearthed a metal box about a foot in diameter, expectantly removed the rusty lid, and found inside a sack containing several old coins, dated in the early part of the eighteenth century, and two old flints.

The Goddess Vesta.

Vesta was the goddess of the home and fire, and her temple was the oldest in Rome. It contained no image of the goddess, but had a fire which was rekindled by friction on the Roman New Year and attended constantly by the vestal virgins.

The Way of a Man.

If a man's car is on time every day for a month he accepts the service with a grunt. If it is late ten minutes one day he throws a conniption fit of dissatisfaction and wants to overturn something that is right side up.—Toledo Blade.

Modern Girl.

A Clay Center physician sent the office girl out to do collecting, according to the Dispatch. She was back in less than an hour with a ring, a marriage certificate, a man, and $1, all of which she had collected.—Kansas City Star.

Quite a Send-Off.

From an English paper: Rev. E. Thomas will preach his farewell sermon on Sunday next. The choir will render an anthem of joy and thanksgiving specially composed for the occasion.—Boston Transcript.

Value of Ton of Gold.

The mint value of gold does not vary, but remains constant at $20.67183462 per troy ounce, or $18.84151 avoirdupois. Basing a calculation upon this value, a ton of gold would be equivalent to $602,928.

"Apostle-spoons," called also "gossip-spoons," were gilt spoons given by the sponsors, or "gossips," to a child at its christening. They were so called because each spoon had a figure of an apostle on the handle.

String Holder.

A convenient string holder may be made of a small funnel hung in a corner of a kitchen. A ball of string should be put in the funnel, the loose cord extending down through the stem.

That Is, Some Men.

Before marriage a man has been known to declare himself unworthy of his sweetheart's love, and after marriage to spend about two-thirds of his time proving it.—Chicago News.

Efficiency's Reward.

Efficiency, like virtue, has to be its own reward and when a man does a big job well everybody says anybody could have done it.—Ohio State Journal.

Aren't People Queer?

Exchange—"Mr. John Roberts has gone south following his recent illness." Foolish to follow it; he should be glad to get rid of it.

Permanent Whitewash.

Mix six pounds of whiting with cold water, taking care to leave no lumps. It should be about the consistency of thick cream. In an old jar steep three ounces of size in cold water for 12 hours. Then make it very hot, but be careful not to let it boil. Pour it while hot into the whitewash. It is most essential that the size be fresh or the smell of it will be quite intolerable. Any coloring—green, pink, blue, or fawn—may be added.

Great Man's Queer Fancy.

Daniel Webster had a curious fancy for painting the faces of his cattle. One week the poor beasts would walk around with blue faces, and the next would appear with red ones. The effect was so novel that it pleased him, and from that time forth he changed the color whenever he had a few minutes to spare, and would laugh heartily at the astonishment of his friends when they saw the queer-looking beasts.

Rubber-Using Insects.

When [illegible] rubber trees are tapped, after the gum has run into receptacles and stiffened a species of large black ant is accustomed to cut out pieces of the rubber and carry them away. Bees also find use for India rubber, and some species in South America actually cut the bark of trees that produce resinous substances in order to cause a flow of the sap. The gum is employed by the bees as a ready-made wax for their nests.

Peculiar Amusement.

Francis Bacon was so fond of fine clothes that he spent his odd time in trying to devise new styles and features of dress. During his life he made some 1,200 drawings of freakish costumes. When he could not get anybody to wear them he hired a number of men to don the grotesque attire and to promenade the streets for his pleasure.

Unearth Tombstone of 1769.

The tombstone of "Johnathan, son of Robert and Esther Plume, deceased December 16, 1769," was unearthed by workmen excavating for a sewer connection in Branforth place, Newark. It is known that during Revolutionary days a cemetery was located in this vicinity.—New York Evening Mail.

Race Won by the Slowest.

At Saint Cloud, Paris, there was once a novel cycling race. The course was laid down a very steep hill, and the contestant who came in last was declared the winner. Brakes were prohibited, and riders were not permitted to set foot on the ground or to tack across the course.

Costly Nibbling.

A St. John chocolate manufacturer who told the Canadian industrial relations commission that his employees last year nibbled up $18,000 worth of goods, employs 190 persons, so the mode of self-help chosen by them amounted to almost $100 each.

Elephant Labor a Necessity.

It is said that Siam's teak forests could not be worked without the assistance of elephants, as hauling machines could not be used in the inaccessible places where teak trees grow. An elephant can handle from fifty to seventy logs in a season.

Childish Vocabulary.

The number of words used by children two years old varies from a very few words for the backward child up to 1,000 words for more precocious children. The average number is put at between 200 and 400.

Tallest Spire.

The record is held by the spire of Norwich cathedral, England, which is 314 feet high. The original spire was destroyed by lightning in 1463, the present spire being about 450 years old.

Men Not Practical.

Men are sentimental gossips. They are not practical enough. Women are. Since the beginning of time it's women that have had to do the practical things.—George Bernard Shaw.

Figuring on a Crowd.

In designing structures which are liable to be subjected to stress from crowds, engineers commonly figure on a dead load of about one hundred pounds to the square foot.

The old-fashioned father who used to whip his son for a violation of the rules of the house has a new method of punishment. He locks the garage.—Los Angeles Times.

Greenland.

Greenland was so named because of the mantle of mosses, grasses, shrubs and flowering plants which cover it in summer, literally making it a "green" land.

Has Swinging Wringer and Other Worthwhile Features

If any electric washing machine feature is worthwhile, the Gainaday has it. The efficiency of washing clothes spotlessly clean in the revolving, reversing Gainaday cylinder is undisputed. Too much evidence points that way—almost a hundred Gainaday owners right here in Charleroi and vicinity is your safeguard. Of great importance, too, is the powerful wringer which wrings the clothes from washer to rinse water to blue water and into the basket, all without moving the machine.
